Waller Smith & Palmer represents individuals and businesses in all stages of the residential and commercial construction process. Our attorneys have extensive experience representing parties in both the public and private sectors and in all facets of construction law. Our clients represent nearly every aspect of the construction process: owners, developers, landlords, lenders, general contractors and subcontractors, material suppliers, architects, engineers and surveyors.

Our firm can assist you from conceptualization to completion. Our attorneys can provide advice and assistance with:

- Zoning, land use and real estate
- Environmental law
- Code compliance
- Purchase and sale agreements
- Contract review and negotiation
- Mechanics' liens
- Dispute resolution and litigation

Let Waller Smith & Palmer help you to meet your project goals and successfully complete your construction venture.
